

Spirited Say 'No Go Home' This Weekend

By BERNIE MILOVE

In an attempt to keep students on campus this weekend, the Student Spirit Committee, in conjunction with the Alumni Hall Committee and the Inter-Faith Council is sponsoring the second "No Go Home Weekend" of the month.

WEEKEND STARTS TOMORROW

Beginning with the Sock Hop Masquerade to be held in Alumni Hall from 9 P. M. to 1 A. M., the weekend will officially commence.

The price of admission entitles you to hear a live band, and also get refreshments. The affair has been designated both stag and drag. Take your choice, but manage to come.

Promptly at 3 P. M. the Kaymen will splash off against a strong squad from Holy Cross. The meet will be held at the YMCA. This is the last meet of the season. Admission is free.

FAIRFIELD vs UB

The Fairfield-UB game, considered by many the biggest event of the weekend, will be held at the Stratford High Gym. The game will begin at 9 P. M. Prior to this event, the JV basketball team will meet the Fairfield Frosh.

With the "Men of Note" providing the musical background students are invited to attend the first Inter-Religious dance, to be held at the Jewish Community Center, Lafayette and State, following the game. Refreshments will be served.

Last, but not least, a Music Festival will be conducted Sunday, from 2 to 5 P. M. at Alumni Hall. Convocation credit will be offered.

UB Offering Secretaries Test Review

In co-operation with the local chapter of the National Secretaries Assn., the University of Bridgeport is offering an extensive 12-week course for people who are preparing to take the Certified Professional Secretary's examination.

It consists of a review of business theory in secretarial procedures. This new course will cover economics, accounting, business law, secretarial practices, and personnel principles.

The objective of the course will be to present the pertinent highlights in each subject area, and at the same time provide for additional self study.

Professional experts will instruct portions of this course which will meet on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 P. M. in Fones Hall.

Additional information may be obtained from Dr. Marie Jaeger, Director of the Weylister Secretarial School.

Ambassador Romulo of UN Delivers Jacoby Lecture

By BOBBI CRANE

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, noted speaker and Pulitzer Prize winner, will deliver the Third Annual Jacoby Lecture Wednesday, March 10 at 8:30 P. M. at the Klein Auditorium. Tickets are now available at the Public Relations Office, Howland Hall.

Fashion Students See Charm in N.Y.

Five members of the Fashion Merchandising class toured the New York market recently. Accompanied by their instructor Eljose Mallner and Eleanor Ailen, fashion co-ordinator for the Lasersohn-Donegar, Inc., Resident Buying Office, the girls visited various garment and textile plants.

The students were Shirley Jones, Rita Ostrafsky, Lorraine Curley, Carol Connery and Anne Kempel. Among the manufacturers visited were: Dan Millstein, coats and suits; Fred Perlberg, dance originals; and Kipness and Weiner, suits. A visit was also made to the Charm Magazine showroom.

What Price Women?

Allentown, Pa. (I. P.) — Muhlenberg College will open its ivy doors to women for the first time very shortly. The action comes after approximately 700 delegates voted for the change at a special campus convention.

Muhlenberg is at present the only all male Lutheran College in the Ministerium of Pennsylvania.

The switchover to a co-ed status will cost $1,500,000.

New Orleans, La. (I. P.) — Miss Dorothy Dale, recruiter for the H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College for Women points out that her school is "interested in enrolling girls with a lot of personality rather than Phi Beta Kappa material. It's the over-all appearance that counts most."

Newcomb is the Tulane University women's undergraduate division.

UB Designers To Visit Henry Dreyfus Studios

The entire membership of the Industrial Design Society will take a field trip to New York City tomorrow, to visit the Design Studios of Henry Dreyfus, considered one of the country's top Industrial Designers.

The arrangements for this tour are in the hands of Peter Berend, treasurer of the Society. If it is possible, the group plans a visit to the Museum of Modern Arts.

"Everyman's Bible Class," held at the YMCA, Sunday mornings, was conducted Feb. 14 by the Protestant Club of the University. Randolph Hellwig conducted Scriptural lessons, while Barbara Collins sang two solos, accompanied by Leifels Chamberlain. Dr. Ralph H. Pickett offered a prayer.

The address, sponsored by the University under the auspices of the Frank Jacoby Foundation, was originally scheduled for Feb. 16, but had to be postponed when Gen. Romulo was called back to the Philippine Islands for consultation with the Philippine President.

After he arrives on campus at about 3:30 P. M., Gen. Romulo will take part in an open discussion with the students at Alumni Hall, followed by a dinner in his honor.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, noted speaker and Pulitzer Prize winner, will deliver the Third Annual Jacoby Lecture Wednesday, March 10 at 8:30 P. M. at the Klein Auditorium.

Gen. Romulo, a graduate of the University of the Philippines, holds many other awards in addition to the Pulitzer Prize in journalism, and assisted in the drafting of the original United Nations Charter in 1945. He was appointed Philippine Ambassador to the United States in 1952, but resigned the position last year.

The Frank Jacoby Lecture Foundation, which bears the name of its founder, was established in 1952 in conjunction with National Brotherhood Week, and has brought before the Bridgeport people such notable personalities as Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Director of Trusteeship for the United Nations.

Gibbs School Offers Full Tuition For Secretarial Senior

The Katherine Gibbs School is offering two scholarships for Senior college girls, consisting of full tuition ($620) for the secretarial training course, and an additional cash award of $500.

The winners will be chosen on the basis of their college academic records, personal and character qualifications, and their potential for success in business. Only one candidate may be recommended by each college or university, and must have official endorsement. All interested may obtain full information from the Dean or the Personnel Office.

IS KAREN ANDRE GUILTY?

Murder Rap Faces Andre When Case Opens March 5

By LEO A. MULDOON

The staid, dignified University of Bridgeport was startled out of its lethargic educational atmosphere early this week, when the controversial question of Karen Andre's guilt "meteored" across the campus. From the administrative confines of Cortright Hall from the social intimacies of the Student Center, from the musty lecture rooms of Tech, even from the barren shores of Seaside Park, came the ominous rumblings of momentous decisions.

Murder is on the lips of everyone, friend and foe alike, as they debate, some quietly, some heatedly, but none dispassionately, the question of whether murder was in the hand and heart of Karen Andre on the night of January 16th. For those who champion the cause of Miss Andre, gloom is the keynote as rumor becomes reality with the announcement that Defense Attorney (James Mehorter) Stevens has withdrawn from the case and that his junior law partner (Leo Muldoon) Stevens has replaced him.

Art Department Display Shown Wistaria Weekend

From James Jackson, head of the Art Department, comes the announcement that the annual spring exhibition will be held in conjunction with the Wistaria Pageant. On display will be commercial ceramics, industrial design, and figure drawings on the beginning and intermediate levels.

There is also a tentative plan for a mural to be placed over the lunch counter at Alumni Hall.

Site Selected For IRC Hop

The first annual Inter-Religious Council Dance will take place Friday evening, after the Fairfield-UB Basketball game. The dance will be held at the Jewish Community Center, 360 State St., corner of Lafayette St., from 10:30 P. M. to 1 A. M.

All students are urged to turn out; either stag or drag. This dance, unlike others, is not strictly a drag affair.

Merle Bruskin, chairman, and his committee consisting of Michael Belmont, Nancy Kallop, Bernie Milove, Marchelle Cacciopoli and Jean Loew have planned a gala night for all.

Students wanting to purchase tickets in advance may do so at Alumni or Marina Hall. Tickets will also be on sale at the basketball game, and the Center on the evening of the dance.

Phil DuBrouil, Editor of the WISTARIAN, has sent out an SOS to all students with cameras. Following a long-standing policy, the Yearbook would like unusual pictures of students, male and female.

Mehorter's claim of "pressure of other business and an open and shut case of Karen Andre's innocence" is vehemently denied by District Attorney (Gil Strunk) Flint who claims that his withdrawal was only added proof of Karen Andre's guilt. He further accuses Mehorter of throwing to the wolves his younger and inexperienced partner, a child barely out of knee pants as far as court cases are concerned. Pressed for an answer to Mr. Strunk's charges of inexperience, Mr. Muldoon Stevens replied, "Let the D. A. do all the barking he wants to do now, I'll do all the biting in court."

Karen Andre (Gail Henderson) was unavailable for comment as were Mr. (William Bartlett) Whitfield and Nancy Lee Faulkner (Gloria Kulski). It was rumored that Larry Regan (Al Zavadasky), notorious criminal, will play a prominent part in the trial which is scheduled to take place in the Klein Memorial on Friday and Saturday evenings, March 5 and 6.

HOWLAND'S

"Mistake, sir? Impossible! I'm a Weylister Girl."

By DON BURKE

"O well, it looks like we might have a good baseball team." This was a consoling thought to the few Bridgeport faithful who had come to witness the expected new low in Bridgeport basketball for the '53-'54 season when the Knights took on the Quonset Point Flyers on the Boys Club hardwood a week ago last Wednesday.

The new low was reached as expected.

After losing four of their last five, the Purple and White seemed destined to blow another one, this time to a club that had beaten their arch rival, Fairfield. At 5:48 in the first period of the game against Quonset, the Knights could not have been more flush to the ground. The score read 12-5 Quonset, Alvin Clinkscales, Bridgeport's biggest point getter was lying on his back with an injured ankle and the grim group of ballplayers that herded around Coach Glines as they carted Al away appeared to be a makeshift line-up the coach had employed to out-do Casey Stengel's managerial brainstorms, rather than the club to win the game. Timmy Ryan and Jim Davins were the only survivors of the usual line-up. Stan Silverberg, a sometimes starter, did have the experience of two years of varsity ball behind him, but Jack Liggins and Bill Duggan had only seen a few minutes of play between them this year. Where were the regulars and how could this untried club ever hope to win?

Midway through the fourth period, as the new Knights opened up a twenty point lead, these questions were answered. The regulars had been on the floor since 5:48 of the first period and the game was being won on spirit and hustle. Duggan's sensational rebounding, Liggins' superlative scoring, and Silverberg's determination coupled with Clinkscales' comeback of 22 points in the final half, Ryan's foresight as he outsmarted the Flyers under their own basket and Davins' great defense were all products of the hustle and teamwork shown by the group that braved the low point but "ascended into the rare" with their slump breaking win over Quonset Point.

To prove their feat against Quonset was no fluke, the rejuvenated Knights mowed down St. Anselm's in a nonchalant fashion last Saturday. The lack of emotion showed by the latest edition of the Knights in winning this one makes both the fans and the ball-players themselves, aware of the confidence that has been recovered by a once floundering ball club and gives hopes for future victories against Fairfield and NAIA tournament opposition.

Hoopsters Face Fairfield Saturday; Defeat Quonset Point, St. Anselm's

By MICKEY VAIL

Regaining the winning path, the University of Bridgeport's cagers swept by two rivals during the past week to bring their record to 11-7 as they prepared to tackle Fairfield University in the second game of the intercity series Saturday night at Stratford High School. The Red Stags took an earlier 79-63 decision from Coach Herb Glines' Knights to move in front in the all-time series 6-5.

With the accent on "Youth," the hoopsters ran roughshod over Quonset Point Naval Air Station 87-63 as Jack Liggins rose off the bench to pour 15 points through the hoop. With Alvin Clinkscales forced out of the game because of an ankle injury early in the first quarter, the Glinesmen faltered for a while but went on to take an easy decision as "Sweet-water" returned to the hardwood in the second half to score 22 points in the final session and 26 for the night.

SQUASH ST. ANSELM'S

Next to feel the wrath of the "hopped up" Knights was St. Anselm's College, who, after taking an early 5-4 lead were never in the ballgame. Timmy Ryan, who has been the squad's most consistent ace of late, dropped in 23 points to lead the scoring parade. Jimmy Davins scored 17 while Clinkscales hooped 15 before being asked to leave the game because of a minor scuffle with one of the Hawks.

UB Gets NAIA Bid Third Year in Row; Will Play Mar. 4-5;

The Purple Knights of the University of Bridgeport have been the first team chosen to compete in the New England section of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball tournament to be played at the Stratford High School Gymnasium, March 4 and 5, according to an announcement made recently by the Athletic Department. The winner of the four team play-off will represent this section of the country in the National tournament to be conducted in Kansas City, beginning March 8.

Three other New England quintets will be named within the next few days to round out the field of four. It was learned that American International College, New Haven State Teachers College, Stonehill College and New Britain State Teachers are among the schools being considered for a possible invitation.

The Purple will be making its third straight attempt at snaring the sectional crown. Last year the Knights were beaten by the now incorporated Arnold College of Physical Education while they lost to Colby College in their 1952 try for the trip to Kansas City.

Bridgeport's record this year against the possible sectional rivals include a 69-51 win over New Haven, a split with New Britain 90-64, and a 66-62 loss to NBST, and a 76-70 overtime defeat by American International College.

The rejuvenated basketweavers will have no easy time of it Saturday as Fairfield is fresh from taking a 79-78 thriller from St. Michael's College, who defeated the Knights 89-84. Fairfield has also trounced New Britain, Quonset and Providence Colleges.

Glines will probably go along with his recent lineup of Liggins and Clinkscales at forwards, Davins at Center and Ryan and Stan Silverberg in the backcourt. Silverberg, who is beginning to look like his old self, has been the team's leading rebounder in the past few contests. Fairfield mentor Jim Hanrahan will most likely start high scoring Bob Gerwin and Ed Diskowski up front, Jim Roach at center and Bob Marcovic and Jackie O'Connell at the guard slots.

JV'S TAKE THREE

While the senior Knights were lambasting two adversaries, the Junior version of UB's basketball warriors were chalking up their third, fourth and fifth straight victories of the season to bring their record to 7-4, as they squeaked past the Quonset Point JV's 58-56 in overtime, Milford Prep 58-54 and romped over the University School 92-62.

Ronnie Krause was the hero of the first win as he scored two foul shots to tie the game in the final five seconds and then dropped two baskets in the extra session. Harry Peters led the scoring parade with 19, while Krause scored 17 and Sam Bernstein 11.

Once again it was Krause who stole the spotlight as the Jayvees bested Milford, as the "little mouse" notched 21 points. Larry Babich, coach Vito Montelli's ace rebounder suffered a cracked rib in the Quonset game and did not see much action in the Milford clash but the gap was ably filled by Gordie Hall and Vin Gentile.

After their three straight squeakers (including a 59-58 win over New Britain) the Junior Knights walloped the University School squad as Babich returned to action to score 22 points. Krause counted 20 markers, Peters scored 16, and Bernstein poured 12 points through the hoop besides taking a large share of the rebounds.

The Junior Varsity will meet the Fairfield Freshmen in the opener of Saturday's twin bill.

ALONG PARK PLACE

By ANDY DEMOTSES

Although it has only the barest essentials as far as recreational equipment is concerned, the newly built room in the basement of Alumni Hall can be considered a step in the right direction.

Perhaps the rest of the rooms down there can be finished off as this one was, and used to increase the facilities already provided. A pool table and a few decent card tables would go very nicely. Checkers and chess sets would be appreciated by many students and faculty members.

A radio with a record player, and possibly a space to dance, would add much to the long weary hours spent between classes. These are only a few suggestions of my own. If anyone has any other ideas, the Student Council or the Alumni Hall Board of Governors would be glad to consider any sensible one.

Gus Seaman was visiting here last week, and he will return to an Army school in Alabama. Although he expects to enter the Army sometime in April, Ron Gold proved to be his usual humorous self when he dropped in for a few days last week along with Gus. Jim Kish was with Gus in Fort Dix, and will stay in that location for the time being. He is still limping, but Dick Aiello claims the bad leg of his is just about as good as new. Joan Francis is still trying to get caught up after she missed a few finals because of illness at the end of the semester.

Don't miss the 3-act drama to be presented soon by the Office of Campus Productions. Having starred in the original play when it opened on Broadway, Al Dickason may have been prejudiced, but he made an excellent choice nevertheless. It is a very "meaty" type play, one that combines dramatic suspense with audience participation to produce a highly satisfactory evenings entertainment.

There has been so much talk about it lately, I don't see why someone doesn't play the Taft-Hartley Bill that Congress is always yelling about.

Bob Kondracki leaves for Florida tomorrow where he will take part in Spring Training with the Class "B" St. Petersburg team. Adele Bush of Wistaria had the following to say about the Nose of Steve Michaels: "Well, it looks good on his face anyhow". Sophie Volakis has revealed her recent engagement to John Fragenes. Bob Miller now working as an insurance adjuster for Farm Bureau. Eddie "Lefty" Whalen writes that he is doing quite well in his home town in Pennsylvania.

Bill Frisin, Keith Cutbill and Archir Orr all left holding the bag the night of the Sweetheart Dance, when they learned at the last minute that their Blind Dates would not be able to come to the dance.

A number of students expressed an interest in having the eight-week course needed to teach elementary school here at UB. At present it is only offered at the State Teachers Colleges. Whether this is possible or not depends on a lot of factors, but the first factor to be considered is that of sufficient interest. Anyone in the field of education interested in this type of course should speak up so an estimate can be made as to the possible enrollment in the class if there is to be one.

The latest additions to the list of steadies is Hal Trishman and his girl Jane Tratner, and Jay Ehrensaal, who is going with Jo-Ann Szathmary. This seems to be the year when serious romances are the thing.

You must admit that boys who went around in Bermuda shorts last week were cute, and possibly have set a new fashion for the men on campus.

Speaking of fashions for men, Beth Drexler is writing the men's fashion section for the Sunday Herald. If you get a chance, read the "South End" column in the Herald. Up to a few weeks ago, a UB student wrote it, and every article concerned UB or its students. Someone else is doing the job now, and you get the impression that UB has disappeared from the face of the earth.

(3) Convertibles, with the tops down, sprang from nowhere, and used car dealers sold quite a few to UB students over a 48 hour period.

(4) Diamond rings (That BIG) appeared on the third finger, left-hand, of quite a few girls who obligingly flashed them around like red flags (or daggers) at more unfortunate and jealous girl friends.

What caused these strange happenings? In endeavoring to find an answer, we could find only one logical answer — SPRING. Yes, children, SPRING. Perhaps it only lasted three days but it was a touch of Spring, with a very small injection of "the fever" with it. If it was any indication of things to come — when Spring really comes — the only comment we have to make is — Wow — and are we glad we're not leaving until June! ! !
